Jacobs Engineering SA (JESA)

To assist us as we move forward with our industrial expansion plans, in 2010 we launched an engineering joint venture with US-based engineering company Jacobs Engineering Group. The new company, equally owned by the two partners and called JESA, provides world-class engineering, project management and construction management expertise to support our projects in Morocco and abroad.

Currently JESA is responsible for engineering, procuring and designing the four identical integrated DAP/MAP units and two granulation units to be built in the first phase of the expansion of the Jorf Lasfar Phosphate Hub.
